

The Charitable Birthday

CommuniGift is reinventing the 21st century birthday party to help kids understand the importance of giving back. We enable children to celebrate their own birthday by providing a special birthday experience for a child in need. The host child invites friends to his or her birthday party through CommuniGift, where they are encouraged to buy a gift from the birthday wish list of the child in need.

How it Works

Our Mission

Growing up, our parents went out of their way to make sure we really understood the importance of helping others. Looking back, now all as seniors in college, we're immensely grateful they made that effort. It is our goal with CommuniGift to make it easier than ever for parents to provide their children with an awesome giving experience. We want to make giving back so fun and so easy that it becomes the cool thing to do among the next generation of givers. $4.5 billion dollars is spent each year in the US for gifts for children's birthdays. Imagine how we can channel that to great causes while teaching kids about giving and still having a fun celebration.
